Republican Congressional District Convention.
FIRST DISTRICT.
A Republican Convention of the First Congressional District of the State of Wisconsin, composed of the counties of Kenosha, Racine, Walworth, Rock and Jefferson, is hereby called to meet at the village of Geneva, in Walworth county, on the 15th day of August, 1882, at 12 o'clock noon of that day, to nominate a candidate for Congress for the District for the next ensuing two years. Each Senate and Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the convention.

JOHN R. BENNETT,
D. B. BARNES,
E. ENOS,
T. G. FISH,
H. S. THORP,
Committee.

Dated July 12th, 1882.
Gustavo Doro was able to pay $115,000 for the ground on which to build him a house in Paris.

Next week the Ohio Democrats will have a State Convention at Columbus. Where is Bookwalter?

Some of the United States Senators are anxious to reduce the tax on whisky. They either want this done, or their salaries raised.

This is the year for Congressional elections, and the bigger the River and Harbor bill, the better for the Congressmen who want a re-election.

It is a pity that Alexandria fell before Admiral Nicholson and an opportunity to show the navies of Europe what three old wooden American ships would do in a bombardment.

Dr. W. W. Hicks, the spiritual adviser of the skeleton in the National Medical Museum, talks of taking the lecture field. The country will let him off with this if he will promise never to attempt to write poetry for the newspapers.

The Suez Canal cost $60,000,000 and as 1,579 of the 2,017 vessels that passed through it last year were English, it will be seen that England is compelled to protect her interest in the canal even at the expense of demolishing Alexandria.

Congress got a little wild on the River and Harbor Appropriation bill, and it is claimed that it appropriated nearly double the amount that is collected for by the necessity of the case. The President it is said, will brand the bill with a veto.

Colonel Ingersoll is getting a good many ironies in the fire—more than he can handle with skill. He is now a playwright and has finished "The Wild, Wild West." If the Colonel would drop theology and the drama his reputation would improve.

Matters over in the Third Congressional district are growing in interest. If Hazeltoun can overcome the combined influence of the fourteen candidates against him, he will win a victory that any man may justly feel proud of. Hazeltoun has courage, and promises to make the fight a hot one. That is the kind we want during a cool summer.

If it be true that the tariff question will be the "Jumbo" in the Presidential circus in 1884, the Democrats should nominate General Hancock by all means. The Republicans would be intensely pleased to have him run. They would assuredly have certainty on their side, and beside that, "Hancock and free trade" would throw a little humor in the canvass.

When the late Mahlon Fisher, of Williamsport, Pennsylvania, died a short time ago, he bequeathed $33,000 to the widows of the town, the interest of which is to be annually divided among them in proportion to the number of children each one has. Last Sunday, to show their respect for Mr. Fisher, all the widows in the town met at the cemetery and decorated his grave with flowers.

If there is a compromise made between the Republicans in Pennsylvania, Mr. Joseph L. Caven, of Philadelphia, may possibly be the Republican candidate for Governor, as both wings of the party favor him. After much reluctance he consented if there was a good prospect of his uniting the party, and on the conditions that no pledge should be required of him and that the rest of the ticket should be re-elected.

Should such a thing happen that Professor Burton, superintendent of the Janesville schools, should accept a promotion with increased compensation, and should leave us, why not try a female superintendent? The Board of Education may be interested in knowing that "Miss Sarah Raymond has been superintendent of the city schools of Bloomington, Ill., for nine years past, has just been reappointed for another year."

The Republicans of Arkansas have presented a pretty strong indictment against Democrats of that State, which ought to tell at the election if the people there have any regard for honor. The Democrats are charged with stealing the school fund which was accumulated while the Republican party was in power; siphoning nearly a quarter of a million dollars from the State treasury; perverting the Peabody fund by dividing it up among Democratic officials; releasing the railroads from the obligation to pay the principal and interest on local aid bonds; preventing a free and honest expression of opinion at the ballot box by the intimidation of voters; and stuffing ballot boxes, changing votes, and making false and fraudulent counts at elections.

The Monona Lake Assembly will begin at Lakeside, Madison, on Tuesday, July 25, and will continue till August 4. It will be held in a beautiful grove on the shore of the lake. A lovely spot in which to pitch a tent would be hard to find; and ample provision has been made for excellent fishing, boating and bathing. The living expenses have been reduced to the very lowest rate. All the principal railroads in the State will sell tickets to and from the Assembly grounds at excursion rates. A season ticket for $1.50 admits you to all the privileges of the Assembly. Children with their parents admitted free. Single ticket 25 cents, for one day. Persons can carry their own tents, or rent them on the grounds; a 16x12 tent for $5.00 and floor it for $1.00; a family tent, 3 rooms, for $8.00 and floor it for $1.50. They bring their own bedding and camp chairs. Visitors can live at the admirable restaurant for seventy-five cents a day, or board themselves from 25 to 40 cents. But the Assembly is especially a summer school for social, musical and mental reunions. The meetings will be held in three large pavilions. Twenty brilliant lectures by some of the best talent in the country offer a treat to all who may go.

It is very evident that Miss Kate Kane, the lawyer in Milwaukee, is seeking after notoriety rather than after a high reputation and professional success. Some time ago—probably three weeks—she wrote a long and pompous article against the execution of the President's assassin. Of course there was no point in it that people had not seen before; but she got her name in the paper with that of Miss Chevalier, and this seemed to afford her some satisfaction. The other day she made another strike for notoriety, but the end was an unfortunate one for Miss Kane. She was defending a criminal in Judge Mallory's court in Milwaukee, and made some remarks to the court which indicated that she had no respect for the Judge, and would have her own way anyhow. Judge Mallory stopped the proceedings, and said he had become tired of Miss Kane's frivolous doings in court and would endure them no longer, and threatened if she repeated her remarks to lodge her in jail for contempt. At this Miss Kate Kane lost her temper, and failed to appear in court in the afternoon, and consequently the case was adjourned till the following forenoon with an order from the Judge to have her in court at 10 o'clock in the morning. She failed to appear, and after several hour's search the deputy sheriff found her locked in a room on Milwaukee street her eyes red and swollen from weeping. According to Judge Mallory's statement, her conduct is almost unbearable in court. She does not understand the rules of propriety and evidence, and frequently becomes snarling and sulky when there is no occasion for it. She is doing very little toward building a solid reputation for professional skill or professional courtesy, and in this she is making a grave mistake. Those who have been watching with considerable interest her career at the bar, will feel disappointed over these unpleasant experiences in her professional life.

There is a lull in the discussion of the political assessed question; but so far as it has got, George William Curtis does not seem to have gained any advantage by his attacks on Chairman Habbell. In fact the guns have been turned on Curtis and his pretended civil service followers. He and they have not only denounced the system of making contributions for political purposes, but they have gone so far as to make misrepresentations in regard to the lady clerks being assessed. It is such a natural thing to call for contributions and make assessments for political purposes, that even the Civil Service Association has done and is now doing just what it condemns Chairman Habbell for doing. In their circulars is the following:

Donations for the general purposes of the Association are requested. Checks should be drawn to order of John C. Enos, treasurer, and addressed to William Potts, secretary—Civil Service Reform Association (Circular). The Association invites all its citizens to join its numbers and assist in improving our civil service and purifying our politics. Annual dues for membership, $2. For further particulars address William Potts, secretary. (The same.)

If it is wrong to solicit contributions or make assessments for the support of Republican principles, is it not equally wrong to solicit contributions or make assessments for the support of civil service principles? This shows that the reform association formed by George William Curtis and his followers is nothing less than a humbug, indeed and in truth. Under the pretense of reforming the civil service they have organized an association, and it costs two dollars to get in it, and it costs two dollars more in a year to continue to belong to it. This is sham reform and is dishonorable to Curtis & Co.

In their circulars to the public against those contributions, they charge that women employed by the government, have also been assessed, which is false. The Republican Congressional committee expressly directed that no circular be sent to any woman holding a position under the government, and none have been sent. Civil service is much needed in many respects, but the attempted reformation of George William Curtis is a sham, and is intended to mislead and defraud.

ALEXANDRIA.

Special to the Gazette.

ALEXANDRIA, July 14.—Some field pieces were landed with the marines at Ras-el-tin, and spiked six cannon. There are not enough soldiers and marines to occupy all the streets of the city. The Khedive is safe in his palace, protected by 700 marines. His Ras-el-tin place was looted just before the marines landed.

It is estimated that 2,000 persons were massacred in the city by the mob. The fire is still raging, and more than a third of the city has been burned. Whole battalions of Arabs were blown up in one fort during the bombardment. Six persons were massacred at the French consulate. The Khedive will embark on a Turkish ship, and Rear Admiral Hoskins has sailed to Port Said on the Penelope.

London, July 14.—Troops are embarking for Egyptian war. Sir Garnet Wolsey will have command of the army against Arabi Pasha.

A SENSATION.

Great Speech by Voorhees in the Senate on the Tariff Question.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—Senator Voorhees' speech on the tariff was the sensation of the day at the capitol. It surprised every one, although since his Atlanta speech it was known that he had become imbued with new ideas on the tariff question. The Senate was not prepared, however, to hear him come out with an able and elaborate argument that would have done credit to Judge Kelley. His Democratic friends were so surprised that they will not really make out what they think about it until they have given the subject some reflection. They heard Joe Brown make a cunning tariff speech in his blind and unpronounced way, without much of a shock; but Voorhees stood there and spoke in tones that rang out through the halls with no uncertain sound, commanding attention from first to last, and spoke with none of the timidity of a new convert, but just as though he had been taught from a boy the righteousness of the doctrine America for the Americans. He said, near the outset:

"It is not within the range of human skill to frame a tariff as to result in nothing but the collection of revenue, nor can human wisdom separate its direct and tremendous effects upon the industries and prosperity of the country from the bare, naked existence of tariff. It is at this point that the extreme and contrary views now before the country begin to assert themselves. On the one hand there are those who declare their readiness to enact a system of tariff, not so much with a view to revenue as to the promotion and protection of certain great pursuits in our midst; while on the other we hear a loud and persistent cry that nothing but revenue, revenue only can possibly enter into the consideration of a subject, which in fact, however, embraces, directly and indirectly, in addition to the collection of revenue, nearly all the myriad interests of the laboring and business classes of the United States. Between these extremes, and against them both, I take my stand on that sure and safe middle ground, which has for its defense the wisest interpretations of the Constitution, the practices of the government when it was administered by those who framed it, the clear and explicit teaching of the fathers, the history of the great party to which I belong, the independence and strength of the country, and the welfare and happiness of the people."

THE COMING CAMPAIGN.

New York, July 12.—The serenade given ex-Senator Conkling at his house in Utica last evening, coupled with the tone of his remarks, has set politicians all agog. It is no secret that Gov. Cornell entered into a bargain at Albany last winter against the ex-Senator, and that this honor should be paid him on the heels of the advertising that the Governor has just received at the hands of State Senator Warner, as a candidate for re-election, is considered significant. Warner's plan is to prevent the Half-Breeds, to which branch he belongs, from uniting on any man in opposition to Cornell. He has been attending all manner of public meetings in the role of a speech-maker, and has never let slip an opportunity to interpolate a puff for the Governor in the course of his remarks. Gov. Cornell is not popular with the people of the rural districts, however, owing to his compromising himself with John Kelly and the Tammany clique. Collector Robertson, also Half-Breed, and an extremely shrewd politician without, is a warm supporter of Cornell, and it is doubtful if the Arthur-Conkling wing will be able to overcome him. There is one chance, however, and it comes from the serenade last evening, as if the Administration had decided to accept it. This honor paid, of course, was a preconcerted arrangement, whereby the ex-Senator was brought vividly to the public mind again, in order to give the prestige which he carries to the Administration at Washington. His speech was calculated to conciliate all classes; what more could the Half-Breeds and Civil-service Reformers desire than he advocated. It was a bid for the position of dictator in the convention, and should Cornell not be successful in mustering enough votes to secure his nomination at the start, the name of Secretary Folger will be sprung upon the convention as a compromise candidate, and he will probably be nominated. Gov. Cornell is a firm believer in the spoils system and the people know it. His appointments all show him the fact that they are all machine men. The fact, in a measure, overcomes the popularity he otherwise would have attained by the use of his veto power over objectionable legislative bills. One thing is certain, and that is, the report about a reconciliation between Conkling and Cornell is all bosh, and the latter will scarcely support him if he becomes the nominee.

AMERICANS IN EGYPT.

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 13.—Secretary Frelinghuysen says, in answer to inquiries as to the safety of our officials and countrymen at Alexandria: "We have no Consul in that city, but the Vice-Consul is a resident of position, a rich Israelite; one of the members of the court at Alexandria, Judge Bachelors in this country on leave, and he understands that the other two American Judges have gone into that country." About a month ago one vessel from the Mediterranean squadron was sent to Alexandria for the protection of American residents, and as the danger increased two other ships were sent thither from the same squadron. About ten days ago, inquiry having been made by the American Board of Foreign Missions, Secretary Frelinghuysen telegraphed the Vice-Consul asking as to the safety of the missionaries. He received answer to the effect that they were all either on our vessels or gone into the interior. He trusts, therefore, that the American residents at Alexandria have suffered no harm.

WON'T AGREE.

PHILADELPHIA, July 13.—The Independent Republicans have declined to consider the four propositions submitted by the Republican State committee. The Independents are now considering the propriety of offering a new basis for compromise.

BODIES RECOVERED.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 13.—A Texarkana special to the Gazette says: The number of men buried by the falling walls in Markham's saloon is estimated at from thirty-five to seventy-five. Up to 6 p. m. nineteen bodies had been recovered.

THE TOY PISTOL.

Boston, July 13.—Six boys died in this city and vicinity since July 4th from lockjaw, induced by toy-pistol wounds.

RAILWAY HORROR.

Moscow, July 14.—A train with 217 persons on board ran off the rails between Tcherny and Bastjeur, and 173 persons were killed. Those not killed were injured more or less.

STILES' MURDERESS.

CHICAGO, July 12.—Madeline Stiles alias Teresa Stiles, the prisoner in the Stiles murder case, was removed from the army to the jail this afternoon. The transfer was made with considerable pomp and ceremony. Carrie Watson, the keeper of the bagnio in which the woman lived drove up to the station in a carriage, into which shortly afterward went the prisoner and her maid a good looking Italian girl who carried an armful of female-looking bundles, the Watson woman and Officer Boland. An eager throng gathered about the carriage, and didn't spare whatever modesty that may have been left to the young women in their efforts to get a look at her. The prisoner was heavily veiled with cape and wore a suit of sombre black. Her demeanor was the same as it has been since her arrest—self-contained and almost cheerful.
